

Joyful Noise
Christian Childcare

Meet Miss Chantal Roeske

- Name: Chantal Roeske
- Position: Music Teacher, Webmaster and Public Relations at J.N.
- Starting Date at Joyful Noise: August 2002
- Degree and Experience: Associate of Arts degree, BA Candidate for Grand Valley State University in Elementary Education, BA from Southern New Hampshire University in Communications and Public Relations. Additional training includes annual NAEYC conferences. Chantal's teaching experience includes almost 20 years of preschool and music instruction in a child care and private setting. Her master instruments are guitar, flute and voice. She has taught music lessons in a private setting for many years, and performs regularly in the community.

Miss Chantal is an avid musician and in her spare time enjoys being with her family, including her husband Ben and school age son Emmett. She is also operates a part time photography business and is a regular fashion and thrift blogger. She enjoys creative things of all kinds, eating healthfully and staying physically active.

Miss Chantal's Teaching Philosophy:

“My philosophy is simple: follow the child. Years of education and teaching experience have taught me that no two children are alike. I believe in the multiple intelligence theory and a constructivist, child led approach based on scaffolding and emergent, hands on experiences. Most of all, beyond philosophical pedagogies and theories, I believe that all children should be respected and loved as individuals. The mystery and wonder of childhood never ceases to amaze and fascinate me, and I hope to infuse every student I meet with the knowledge that they are special along with the world around them.”