

Joyful Noise
Christian Childcare

Meet Miss Bev

- Name: Bev Scheil
- Position: Growing in Grace Coordinator and Teacher
- Starting Date at Joyful Noise: August 2008
- Professional Development and Experience: Miss Bev has received a multitude of training over the years through the Applebaum Training Institute, University of the Pacific, Muskegon Community College and NAEYC. Her experience includes many years of working with children from infancy through school age, as well as educating children in her church with Christian curriculum.

Miss Bev and her husband Russ have been married for over 40 years. Their daughter Sara is grown, married and lives near Ann Arbor with her husband Nick and their wonderful granddaughter Olivia. Miss Bev loves to travel—especially to warm, sunny climates. In the fall and winter months, she is part of a weekly bowling league. She enjoys camping, and other outdoor activities with her friends and family all year long.

Miss Bev's Teaching Philosophy:

“From a very early age I always wanted to work with small children—preferably in a preschool setting or daycare. I was fortunate to gain a position as a teacher assistant in the Young Explore preschool program at a Christian school when my daughter was a student. That was in 1986. Since that time, I have always worked or been involved in early childhood education. I feel blessed to be a part of Joyful Noise and commitment to Christian education for all students.”
